Whereas, library systems have been developed to promote access to materials available in organized collections in locally supported public libraries;

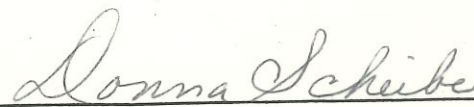

Therefore, the parties to this Agreement, in accordance with Section 43.17 (6) and 43.24 (2) (g) of the Wisconsin Statutes, hereby agree on behalf of the public libraries which constitute their system membership to allow any person holding a valid borrower's card from any library belonging to the other system to have access to all of the libraries (including bookmobiles) belonging to its system. This arrangement generally referred to as reciprocal borrowing, will be subject only to the following conditions:

1. Patrons who borrow materials under this Agreement are required to:
 - a. conform to the rules and regulations of the library from which they borrow;
 - b. present a valid borrower's card issued by their local library or by their library system as evidence of their eligibility for this service;
 - c. pay promptly all delinquency charges which may accrue against them.
2. Participating libraries may limit reciprocal borrowing to specific classes of materials at their discretion, but are encouraged to provide access to materials that are available locally.
3. The parties to this Agreement agree to assist each other, if necessary and upon request, in recovering overdue library materials.
4. The parties to this Agreement agree to replace materials which are borrowed from their member libraries and are lost or destroyed as a result of reciprocal borrowing and agree that reasonable efforts will be made to reclaim such material or its value from the patron or library responsible for such loss or destruction.
5. The only charges attendant to the services described in this Agreement are those which a library would ordinarily impose on its local patrons. It is the intention of this Agreement that there be no reimbursements to systems or libraries providing these services.
6. Audiovisual materials and equipment borrowed under this Agreement must be returned to the library from which they were checked out. All other materials may be returned to any member library of either system; it will be the system's responsibility to return the materials to the originating library.
